SALO BLUMENTHAL READS FROM THE TORAH
He is the cantor at Congregation B'nai Israel, Daly City.

Cantor Inspired By Al Jolson

By BILL HURSCHMANN

The stage was being prepared to celebrate the 125th anniversary of a modern language high school in Frankfort, Germany. A young boy, 18 at the time, jumped on stage, a paper-made megaphone in his hand, and began to croon Al Jolson tunes.

"Sonny Boy" and "Rainbow Round My Shoulder" garnered applause from onlookers. Salo Blumenthal's career had begun.

It was to be a career that would find him studying under great masters, starring as an opera baritone, landing in a Nazi concentration camp, attempting to break into Hollywood and eventually settling into the life of a cantor.

Now cantor at the Congregation B'nai Israel, Daly City, Blumenthal, inspired by Jolson and prodded by friends and relatives, studied in the 1930s under Siegfried Wuerzburger, noted German arie and voice trainer, who headed a private music conservatory.

But, it was 1936 when his career skyrocketed. The famous German conductor, William Steinberg, who once was an assistant to Toscanini, asked Blumenthal to sing in Beethoven's "Fidelio."

"That opera deals with freedom and liberation and brotherhood," Blumenthal explained the other day at this office in the Daly City synogogue. But, it was an opposite set of ideals that shortly thereafter had led him to the Buchenwald concentration camp.

"In the mid-1930s, it was hardly possible for the Jewish people to perform for the German public. We had to go to our own concert halls and perform only for our people," he said.

"It wasn't a very pleasant atmosphere. But, we thought things might change. We thought we might emerge as a free people and resume our normal lives. We thought it would blow away."

But Nazi Germany under Adolph Hitler didn't blow away.

"In November of 1938 the synogogues were being destroyed. Jewish shops were being smashed. And one Saturday afternoon some SS storm troopers came to my apartment and took me away."

Blumenthal spent six weeks in the concentration camp, but the horrors of it linger today.

"There were no sanitary facilities at the camp. We had only whale meat to eat on occasions. We had to stand up all day and all night — we weren't even allowed to move," he recalled.

Because of the filthy conditions, Nazi soldiers periodically burned all the prisoners' clothes. "While I was lined up to get new clothing, a guard came up to me and asked me who I was and what I did. I told him I was a singer, and he commanded me to sing."

And the 26-year-old baritone did sing before 15,000 prisoners. He also sang at night in the barracks to help keep up the morale.

Blumenthal's wife, Clare, who had some British and American contacts, obtained a British visa and letters of support from United States citizens that eventually led to his release.

"It was because of those documents, and the fact that I had no police record and no affiliation with either the Socialists or the Communists that got me out of the concentration camp."

His release, however, wasn't before he saw fellow Jews shot and clubbed to death, commit suicide by diving into electrically wired barbed fences, drink soup made of tree bark and lurk outside buildings, waiting for rainfall droppings.

Blumenthal fled to England,

Double-Dipping Halted

Legislation aimed at ending "double dipping" by retired teachers and school administrators has been signed into law by Gov. Edmund Brown Jr., his office said Monday.

Assemblywoman Carol Hallett, R-Atascadero, authored AB 1002, which tightens a state law that bans such persons from receiving more than $5,000 a year in school district consultant fees.

While that ban already was on the books, at least 35 persons in the state have been breaking it and earning more than $5,000 a year in consulting fees on top of their retirement benefits, state officials say.

Mrs. Hallett had cited the case of Margorie Tobias as an example of "double-dipping."

Miss Tobias, a former Jefferson Elementary School District teacher and principal, has served as a "educational consultant" for the district during the past two years. For her services, she had received $100 a day when working.

The State Teachers' retirement system, however, had charged Miss Tobias earned almost $20,094.72 from the district during those two years, and that she also received her $19,450 a year full pension.

In earlier hearings, Mrs. Hallett said her bill was targeted at such cases. The bill plugs loopholes which make it possible for a person to skirt the $5,000 lid by being employed as a "consultant."

JESD officials had claimed Miss Tobias was an independent contractor and, as such, entitled to both her pension and consultant fees. The legislation signed by Gov. Brown, however, apparently will close this loophole and not allow Miss Tobias to earn more than $5,000 annually.

The 35 persons the state says have been breaking the existing law "doesn't even scratch the surface," Newton Byrd, assistant to the chief officer of the State Teachers Retirement Board, said in June.

Byrd said these 35 or more persons make no payments into the financially-troubled State Teachers Retirement Fund, which officials estimate has about $8 billion in unfunded liability.

It also could mean that these retired employes hold jobs that unemployed teachers want. So it is no surprise that the California Teachers Association was one of the main backers of AB 1002.

Byrd has said the State Teachers Retirement System may rescind Miss Tobias' retirement and require her to make back payments into the fund.

She and the Jefferson district could fight that move in court, he said.

THe bill signed by Brown apparently was not retroactive. It was, however, an urgency measure and as such goes into effect immediately.

Aide Seeking Re-hearing

A former Jefferson Elementary School District administrator, fired four years ago, will appeal his firing to the United States Supreme Court, it was revealed Monday.

Roger Barthuli, former associate superintendent-business, and Supt. Frank L. Greenwood were fired by JESD trustees in July 1973.

Barthuli appealed his firing in Superior Court, which in January 1974 upheld the firing.

Further litigation found the matter in the District Court of Appeals, then the State Supreme Court, which last month ruled in favor of JESD.

However, district officials disclosed Monday that the former administrator is asking the State Supreme Court for a re-hearing. Barthuli, according to the JESD officials, has promised to take the matter to the U.S. Supreme Court if this current action fails.

The primary charge against Barthuli was alleged breach of contract.

JESD has retained the services of William Johnston, San Mateo attorney, to represent the district in the Barthuli litigation.

Report Angers Trustees

A preliminary report issued by a three-member fact-finding panel which met to discuss differences between the Jefferson Elementary School District and its teachers has been released — and it sides with the teachers.

However, district trustees, angry at its early release, said the report is incomplete, pending issuance of a dissenting opinion.

The panel's initial report has recommended teachers receive a 4.97 per cent salary increase for the 1976-77 school year. The district's final offer was a 2.6 per cent increase.

Teachers and the district have not agreed upon a contract for the 1976-77 school year, nor the 1977-78 year.

The fact finding report, based on a review of grievances between the two parties for the 1976-77 school year, is not binding.

Evelyn Sherry, a representative of the Jefferson Classroom Teachers Association, the bargaining unit which represents the district's 390 teachers, released the report to members of the press Monday night.

Board President Alvin Schwarzbach, when learning of the release by JCTA, said it did not comply with the agreement between the parties.

"It was the panel's duty to release the report," Schwarzbach said, "and they intended to release it only when it was completed. Since the dissenting opinion has not been filed, the report is still incomplete.

"We have received this initial report and we could have said something about it tonight (Monday's Board of Trustees meeting), but we withheld comment. It was our intent to comply with our initial agreement."

According to the report, the district has maintained the funds for a salary increase for teachers beyond 2.6 per cent were not available. However, the report says, "funds have now become available and should be expended for teacher salary increases for 1976-77."

Clashes Over Rehabilitation

Painting Program

'Envy Prompts Criticism'

Program Footdragging?

'People Suffering In Their Homes'

Stories by Staff Writer Nancy Stancill

The administrator of a $161,000 federally funded program to paint old Daly City residences has charged that criticism of the project is motivated by "envy."

Julius Castelan, president of Bay Area Regional Planning, Inc., the nonprofit agency administering the painting program, has discounted charges that his project may be duplicating future rehabilitation efforts.

Ernie Pezzola and Conrad Pavellas Monday told two city committees involved with rehabilitation that Castelan may be spending federal funds to paint houses that later may be ripped up for rehabilitation repairs.

The two questioned Castelan's use of $12,800 in municipal rehabilitation funds to pay for the project paint, as allocated by the city. The remaining $149,000 of Castelan's project funds comes from federal Manpower monies and is administered through the county.

"They've been monkeying around for three years and have not been able to do anything for rehabilitation," said Castelan of Pezzola and Pavellas. Both men serve on the city's

"People are suffering in their homes," a Daly City resident told city officials Monday.

Conrad Pavellas, a member of the city's rehabilitation committee and a director of the Original Daly City Protective Association, charged that footdragging by city officials has been responsible for a complete slowdown of the city's rehabilitation program.

Pavellas put much of the blame on City Atty. Albert Polonsky, for Polonsky's decision to delay the start of the government-sponsored loan program while he sought clearance on city procedure from a bond counsel.

The rehabilitation committee member pointed out that the city has about $376,000 in three years of funding in Housing and Community Development Act (HCDA) monies piled up, less an undetermined amount of administrative costs.

But, Mayor Albert Teglia pointed out, "The same amount of time in basic work has been spent by almost every city involved in rehabilitation."

The city's progress with the rehabilitation program was the topic of discussion

Witness Tells Of 2 Shootings

Frank Fitzgerald, whose tale of violence silenced a Redwood City courtroom last week, resumed the witness stand Monday in the homicide trial of Marion Alexander Carr.

Fitzgerald has identified the 33-year-old Carr as his accomplice last March 9 when Jerry Wade, 26, was shot to death in his Daly City apartment. Wounded were Wade's girlfriend, Barbara Rhodes, and her cousin, David Twine.

Fitzgerald, who has pleaded guilty to first-degree murder, faced cross-examination by defense attorney Philip S. Barnett of San Bruno.

The case, before a jury and Superior Court Judge Robert E. Carey, began its sixth session Monday. Carr has pleaded not guilty to charges of murder, attempted murder, robbery, burglary and conspiracy.

A third defendant, Ernest Townes, who left the Daly City apartment before the shootings, faces trial Sept. 10 on the same charges as Carr.

Fitzgerald earlier testified that a "contract" allegedly approved by Black Guerrilla Family leader Willie Tate initially pegged Townes as a victim because of a bum dope deal.

But Townes led Fitzgerald and Carr to Wade, who was described as having money, diamonds and drugs, Fitzgerald asserted.

The 6-foot-7 witness told jurors about the search in Wade's apartment for drugs, jewelry and money, and the pleas by the victims for their safety.

Fitzgerald said that at one point he asked Carr, "Do you think we should just split, or what? Carr said, 'We'll just have to do our thing.'"

Asked by prosecutor Clifford Cretan what that meant, the witness responded, "It meant we'd have to 'off (kill) them.'"

He described how he then retrieved a pillow from a bedroom and placed it around his handgun. He said he kneeled down to the floor (the victims had been tied) and shot David Twine in the head.

"I didn't know whether I had killed him or not," Fitzgerald said. "I felt his neck for a pulse . . ."

The witness said that Carr took the gun from him, allegedly commenting, "I'll take this shot."

Fitzgerald said he then heard a shot, with Carr allegedly saying, "I think I missed the mother." Then he said he heard a second shot. Carr had shot Wade, the witness claimed.

"I took the gun (then) and shot the girl," Fitzgerald said. He described how he and Carr calmly walked away, and drove off to San Francisco, thinking all three victims were dead. They took with them money, drugs and diamonds.

Twine and Miss Rhodes survived, however, and later identified Carr and Fitzgerald from police photographs.

Those identities, confirmed in court by the victims last week, led to the arrest of Carr and Fitzgerald five days after the shooting. Townes, known to Miss Rhodes as "T", had been arrested earlier.

Sheriff Wants District To Pay Police Bill

County Sheriff John McDonald will attend the September meeting of the Broadmoor Police Commission to request that it pay its July bill for patrol services and sign a formal agreement for reimbursement for the cost of future patrol work.

Sheriff's deputies have been providing police service to the district since July 1 equal to that which previously had been provided by the police district.

On July 1 the district's six-month agreement with Daly City to provide police service expired. The agreement came after the district lost its liability insurance. Commissioners are now exploring various avenues for long-term police protection.

The sheriff indicated he will stress to the commission that if the bill is not paid and the agreement not signed, then service to the community will be reduced to that provided all unin-

Chess champion Jay Whitehead challenged shoppers at Serramonte Shopping Center in Daly City.

Junior Chess Champ's D.C. Challenges

By NANCY STANCILL

A knot of curious spectators paused to watch Jay Whitehead set up eight chess boards Thursday in the mall area of Serramonte Shopping Center.

The 15-year-old youth was preparing to challenge anyone who stopped by to a chess game — for a small fee.

The San Francisco teenager is no ordinary chess player. He's the junior California chess champion and he's preparing to leave in mid-September for the Junior World Championships in France.

So he dreamed up the shopping center gambit to finance his and his chess second's $2,000 plane fares to France.

Whitehead set up his games in Serramonte Wednesday and Thursday and Saturday and again Sunday.

Thursday he played 16 challengers, some of them simultaneously. He reported "15 wins and one draw."

At $3 a person that's a long way from $2,000, but he did the same thing recently in a San Jose shopping center and has managed to net $400.

Whitehead said he will probably try other shopping centers and chess tournaments to finance his trip.

"Once I get there, everything is paid for, but the U.S. Chess Federation lacks the funds to send me," he said of the tournament.

The intense, articulate 15-year-old has a 17-year-old brother Paul whom he confesses is "a little bit better chess player than I am."

"But at one time, I was better than him," he said.

Both Jay and Paul were taught to play chess at an early age by their father, Stan Whitehead of San Francisco.

"I learned the moves when I was six, but I've been serious about the game since the Bobby Fischer-Boris Spassky match," Jay said.

Whitehead said chess will continue to be important to his future "on the side" but his career ambition is to be an actor.

He recounts that he was a star "three or four years ago", of a juvenile television show called "Git Box Tickle."

The teenager, who has lived in San Francisco for four years, has attended the Urban School ("a private, alternative school") and will probably attend another private school to be founded by his father in the fall. He's a native of New York.

Jay started entering chess tournaments in 1973, but confesses that he doesn't practice much.

"Sometimes Paul and I help each other study," he said.

"Chess appeals to my creative drive," he said a bit grandly. "There are endless creations, billions of different moves."

And how did the chess prodigy like playing the ordinary folk who stroll through shopping centers?

"They're not very good," he said candidly. "I can beat some of them in five or 10 minutes."

corporated sections of the county.

The commission does not meet in the month of August. Its next meeting is in September.

Supervisor Fred Lyon stressed that the county is not questioning the district's intent to pay the bill, but that the county wants to provide patrol services there in a proper manner.

where for six months he lived with a law professor who had opened a house for refugees. From there, it was a nine-month stint in London — operating a hostel for displaced Jews and waiting for an opportunity to travel to America.

That opportunity came in 1940, when he and his wife made an eight-day voyage to America on the British steamer, Britannic.

"We stayed in New York only for a brief time before travelling West to San Francisco, where I entertained many Jewish organizations.

"One day a singer in the Pacific Opera Company (a subsidiary of the San Francisco Opera Company) asked me if I'd be interested in joining the company for a production of 'The Barber of Seville.' Just for the fun of it, I said yes."

Blumenthal secured a leading role in that production, and also starred in "Pagliacci."

Music critic Alfred Frankenstein heard Blumenthal singing one afternoon in Stern Grove and suggested he explore the movie business.

"Mr. Frankenstein referred me to MGM, and in 1944 I went to Hollywood. They liked my voice, but they told me they didn't look for operatic types. They asked me if I could dance or maybe do jazz. They just wanted a different type of man," he said.

Shortly thereafter, Blumenthal did get an offer to star in some Universal International Studios productions to be filmed in Rome.

"But, I had a 2-year-old baby (his son, Benjamin, now a rehabilitation counselor in Virginia) and my parents were on their way to the United States (they had fled to Shanghai, China, during the Nazi oppression), so I didn't accept the contract."

Blumenthal then settled down to become a cantor in the Los Angeles area for 25 years.

"In 1969, "Blumenthal remembered, "the smog drove me away. I accepted a position as cantor, music director and teacher for a synogogue in Des Moines, Iowa. And then four years later I returned to San Francisco."

In January of this year, he joined the 120-family Congregation B'nai Israel. As cantor, he chants the litergy during the service and leads the congregation in prayer.

Chants are from the Torah, the five books of Holy Scriptures of Moses. They are read and chanted in Hebrew.

"I really enjoy it here," Blumenthal said. "It is a great honor to be a cantor, and I'm looking forward to a long and pleasant relationship."

at a joint meeting of the rehabilitation committee and policy advisory committee to the HCDA Task Force.

Daly City has been prodded by the Department of Housing and Urban Development to spend about $660,000 in federal HCDA funds by the end of 1977.

At that time, if funds are satisfactorily spent or committed, the city will be granted its chunk of third-year HCDA funding by HUD. To implement the funding faster, there is a special task force of city employes working on it.

Community Development Director Don Fleming, who heads the task force, said, "Rehabilitation has been our heaviest push."

Besides rehabilitation, the HCDA funds are earmarked for development of a multi-purpose center, two new city parks, day care, Mission Street beautification, Guadalupe Health Center and the Anti-Crime League.

Fleming noted that there are applications from Daly City residents who want rehabilitation loans, and said he believes it is possible to have the first applications processed by October and possibly all of them by December.

Pavellas said he wished Fleming had not made such a statement.

"All we've heard are many, many promises," Pavellas said. "What we need now is commitment. What we've had is block grants used as revenue sharing — tokenism."

Councilman Victor Kyriakis, chairman of the HCDA committee, said Daly City's staff "has been too thinly spread over too many projects. We need a staff of our own for rehabilitation."

Fleming set up a meeting for Thursday at 7:30 p.m. for the Rehabilitation Committee to interview two consulting firms to handle the first few months of setting up the loan program.

Kyriakis said if a decision could be reached by the committee Thursday, the council could act to hire one of the firms at its special meeting next Monday.

The councilman said the firm could take charge of the loan program until the city can hire a qualified loan officer for the duration of the rehabilitation effort.

Councilman McRobert Stewart, who is serving on the task force, stressed that finding a qualified person may not be easy.

"There are not many people around who are knowledgeable of rehabilitation," he commented.

Mayor pro tem William Schumacher, chairman of the Rehabilitation Committee, stressed that the city should be able to do the bulk of the loan processing before it reaches the banks.

Geraldine Franklin, a HUD representative who attended the meeting in an unofficial capacity as a Daly City resident, agreed.

"Once you've got a package together, you can get banks to do the paperwork," she said.

Ms. Franklin further said that HUD had directed each city to take steps to establish its legal position in regard to use of Marks-Foran Act or state monies which will become available for use in the program.

Kyriakis said that with the council's upcoming resolutions to formally establish the finance program in September, "We can comply with the Marks-Foran provisions after the next two council meetings."

Both Kyriakis and Teglia defended the city attorney's action in delaying the beginning of the program while the legal aspects of the use of the Marks-Foran funds were cleared through bond counsel Richard Sallidin.

"As much as you think the city attorney's been dragging his feet," Kyriakis told Pavellas, "He has cleared the bases legally."

Rehabilitation Committee and have called for a speedup of the city program.

Castelan has refused to let the two men look at the list of the homes that will be painted, to check if the owners have applied to rehabilitation loans.

"I'm not supposed to show them the list," said Castelan, who said the matter was a government contract "and none of their business."

Castelan also noted that the low-income homeowners eligible for the painting job should not be embarrassed by disclosure that they are getting the service at no charge.

The project administrator added that he had cleared the list of paint job recipients with Fred DeJarlais, associate planner working with rehabilitation.

Castelan said most rehabilitation work on city residences will be repairs to interiors and wouldn't harm a new exterior paint job, anyway.

"The residents are tired of waiting for rehabilitation," said Castelan, who made application for the grant with the help of the city. "They want someone to get off their dime."

The 79-year-old project administrator is angry that Community Development Director Don Fleming has informed him in a letter that he is no longer a member of the Rehabilitation Committee.

Castelan said he was told recently by DeJarlais that there would be a conflict of interest in his serving on the committee and administering the painting project.

"I said I wouldn't resign, that they would have to fire me," Castelan responded.

Castelan said he has hired 15 low-income persons to complete the painting project, which began July 18.

He said the project can last up to a year, with the funding for painting 160 residence interiors at a cost of about $1,000 each in project funds. The residents must meet strict income guidelines and are not charged.

Castelan said 12 residences have been painted and there are 25 more applications.

His main problem with the project, Castelan explained, is convincing eligible residents that "it's for free and there's no gyp in it."

"They don't believe we do it for free," he emphasized.

Castelan said his problems with Pavellas and Pezzola first arose when they asked him to paint a church. He said he declined, because it isn't allowed in the grant.

"It's only for houses," he emphasized.

benefits and grievance procedures were the main topics of the fact-finding panel.

With respect to fringe benefits, the panel's initial report said that issue for 1976-77 is moot. "The panel believes," the report added, "that parties should reopen on this matter, as they will on salaries, according to their tentative agreement."

On the matter of a grievance procedure, the report recommended no provision for grievances or arbitration be included in any agreement reached. The courts, the report suggested, would provide a better forum for such matters.

Pair Held In Robbery

Two San Francisco men were arrested by Pacifica police Sunday on charges of armed robbery and assault with intent to commit murder after a bait shop was robbed and its owner Beaten.

Lodged in Daly City's holding facility were Michael Bailey, 21, 1487 LaSalle St., and Michael Foote, 24, 1796 Oakdale Ave.

Pacifica police said two men allegedly entered the Coastside No. 2 Bait Shop, at Francisco Boulevard and Paloma Avenue, at about 5 a.m. Sunday.

Westlake Senior Citizens Cancel Today's Meeting

It is time for school children to be getting ready for classes again and teachers and administrators are busy having pre-school meetings and workshops. All of which is a round about way to lead into the news that the Westlake Senior Citizens will not be meeting today.

Mrs. Ernestine Vetter, publicity chairman of the group which meets in the Our Lady of Mercy School, has penned a reminder that there will be no meeting today as there is a school program scheduled for the meeting room.

To help make up for the missed gathering the club members will trek to Reno the end of this month. After enjoying the gaming rooms in Nevada the club board is planning an outdoor event, the annual club picnic.

Mrs. Eileen Winter, the book review chairman for the Daly City Friends of the Library, reports that

Louanne Heath

Samuel Chandler will speak on the subject of short, stories by various authors at the group's first meeting on Sept. 15.

Members of the "Friends" executive board will meet on Sept. 1.

Mrs. Ginny Letsinger and Janixe Tierney, who will be wearing fashions from the Little Daisy, in "Previewing Fall" have won prizes this summer for their entries in the San Mateo County fair.

Mrs. Letsinger, a gourmet cook, won the ribbon for the best use of wine in cooking at the San Mateo fair and Miss Tierney won a ribbon for a crocheted green frog that she entered in the fair in Sonoma.

Mrs. Tierney is excited about having persuaded her daughter to make a duplicate of the prize winning frog to be given as a prize at the fashion show.

Many more happy and healthy birthdays, Edna Laurel.

Democrats Plan Picnic

The North San Mateo County Democratic Association will hold its fifth annual picnic Sept. 24 at Orange Park, South San Francisco.

The picnic will be from noon to 5 p.m. Tickets are $3 for adults and $1.50 for children under 12.

Also planned as part of the day's activities is an auction of political memorabilia and games for both children and adults.

Tickets are available by contacting Shirley Spencer or ticket chairman Roger Hansen. For more information call Democratic Headquarters at 574-3366.

Veal Chops Bon Temple

So easy to pepare — yet so delicious.

Two lbs. Shoulder, Rib, or Kidney or Sirloin veal chops. One egg beaten, 2 tbls. olive oil, bread crumbs, one can cream of mushroom soup, ½ glass of white dinner wine, salt & pepper to taste. Dip veal chops into beaten egg — then bread crumbs. Place in a med. hot skillet with the 2 tbls. olive oil and brown. When veal chops are med. brown remove and place in casserole or baking dish. Mix wine and soup together and pour over veal chops. Place in 325 degree oven 25 to 30 min. Remove and serve. 4 to 6 servings.

Serve with a chilled Traminer

Help Wanted

The following agencies have requested volunteer assistance from the Volunteer Burea/Voluntary Action Center of San Mateo County, with offices in Daly City, Burlingame and Redwood City.

The local telephone number for area residents is 992-0957, an answering service. Residents also can contact the main office in Burlingame at 342-0801, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

uf27MULTIPLE SCLEROSIS SOCIETY — A volunteer coordinator is needed for this year's Read-A-Thon for the San Mateo County elementary schools. This will involve contacting the schools in the fall semester and coordinating volunteers to give presentations in the schools in the spring semester. Training will be provided.

SUICIDE PREVENTION AND CRISIS CENTER — Training for new volunteers to staff the 24-hour crisis line will begin on Sept. 24 and continue for four additional Saturdays. Interviews are required prior to the training and will be held through Sept. 9.

SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO SCHOOL DISTRICT — Volunteer tutors are needed on a one-to-one basis for a special program in remedial reading for grades one through six. Volunteers will be trained to use the special materials and are asked to make a committment of three days per week. Time is flexible.

COYOTE POINT MUSEUM FOR ENVIRONMENTAL EDUCATION — The first docent training class will begin on Sept. 1. Training will consist of one college level course in basic ecology plus in-gallery training. Volunteer docents will be conducting tours to interpret the displays and must make a committment of only 20 half-days per year. There will be a fee to cover the cost of the training materials.

GREENPEACE FOUNDATION — Volunteers are needed to assist this organization which is working to save the dwindling whale and seal population. Volunteers are needed for public information, fundraising and clerical assistance.

RAISING FUNDS FOR MUSCULAR DYSTROPHY

Volunteers Sought To Teach Safety

The state Department of Consumer Affairs has received a one-year contract from the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission to conduct a product safety information and education volunteer program throughout California.

Volunteers are needed in the five regions of San Francisco, Sacramento, Fresno, Los Angeles, and San Diego. Their job will be to conduct educational programs for specific groups on summer, holiday, poison prevention and flammable fabric safety. Target audiences will include students, PTAs, the elderly and handicapped, health care professionals, fire and police departments, and civic groups. Volunteers will receive instruction.

Anyone interested in volunteering or desiring more information about the project may call Leslie Patterson at the Department of Consumer Affairs, (916) 445-7464.

Wine, Song Evening To Aid Health Group

The second annual Autumn Evening of Wine and Song, benefiting the Mental Health Association of San Mateo County, will be held Sept. 17 from 5:30 to 9 p.m. at The Pinnacle, 235 El Cerrito in Hillsborough.

Three groups of musicians will play and sing distinct styles of music. "Bobby and I" (the Ken Fishlers) are a Bay Area popular piano and vocal duo, "Courtial" specializes in jazz pop, and "Andets" is a local trio of doctors who play Dixieland.

Fine German wines have been donated by Wines International, featuring Pieroth wines. Many varied and tasty hors d'oeuvres will accompany the wine.

The setting, "The Pinnacle," is the spacious home of Mr. and Mrs. Les Alexander. The tennis court will be the scene of the musical events, "Bobby and I" from 6 to 7 p.m. "Courtial" from 7 to 9 p.m., while the back deck will be the Dixieland center for the evening.

Fidelity Savings and Loan are the sponsors for the second year. All ticket sales will benefit the Friendship Centers and Parental Stress programs of the Mental Health Association of San Mateo County.

Dress is informal, and the donation per person is $10. Reservations can be made by calling the Mental Health Association of San Mateo County at 349-5588 or by stopping by any of the four Fidelity offices in the county.

Housing Shortage Reported

Housing in Northern and Central California is extremely scarce, according to a survey released by Pacific Gas and Electric Company.

Mid-year vacancies were recorded as 1.7 per cent, the lowest since 1970. Vacancies ranged from a low of 0.6 per cent in Los Gatos to a high of 4.9 per cent in Chico.

The annual statistical study examined availability of apartments and single-family homes in June based on idle PG&E meters throughout the company's 48-county service area.

The housing shortage may be relieved by increased residential construction this year. Builders are expected to complete 75,000 new single-family dwellings in 1977, the largest yearly volume since 1959. Estimated new apartments ready for occupancy this year will total about 20,000, compared with an average of 15,500 during each of the past two years.

WINTER FOOD

It's not too late to plant a winter crop of vegetables. Grow cool season favorites such as lettuce, spinach, cabbage and radishes.

FORD
EUROPE'S MOST SUCCESSFUL* NEW CAR IN HISTORY COMES TO CALIFORNIA.

FREE
DRIVING GLOVES JUST FOR TAKING A TEST DRIVE WHILE THEY LAST.

Fiesta is a fun car to drive. To encourage you to try it, your Ford Dealer is offering a free pair of driving gloves just for taking a test-drive in a Fiesta. They're quality driving gloves with a $16.95 retail value. But hurry. The offer is good while the supply lasts.

*The Ford Fiesta. It's outsold every new car nameplate ever introduced in Europe, based on sales in the first six months, even surpassing the most popular cars from Volkswagen, Renault and Fiat. Behind that success is Fiesta's dramatic level of automotive performance.

ADVANCED EUROPEAN ENGINEERING.

Fiesta is assembled by Ford in Germany. It was engineered for stability on Europe's high-speed autobahns. It was designed to be quick and maneuverable in city driving. Yet for all its performance, Fiesta is engineered to be an easy-to-service car.

43 MPG† HWY
30 MPG† CITY

EPA California estimates. Your mileage may vary depending on your car's condition, optional equipment, and how and where you drive.

QUICK AND MANEUVERABLE.

Fiesta has front-wheel drive, which helps give the car good drive wheel traction—even on snow and ice. This, in addition to Fiesta's MacPherson strut front suspension, rack and pinion steering, and Michelin radial tires, contributes to a solid feeling of controlled action.

Fiesta responds. In Ford tests its 1.6 litre engine took it from 0-50 MPH in an average of 9.1 seconds for California emissions equipped models. And its front disc brakes brought Fiesta from 50-0 MPH in an average of 3.3 seconds in Ford tests.

But check Fiesta's remarkable performance yourself with a test-drive at your Ford Dealer. And get a free pair of fine driving gloves while the supply lasts.

Free Training Offered

San Mateo County residents are receiving free training in 14 vocational courses through San Mateo County Office of Education's Regional Occupational Program.

Courses are open to San Mateo County high school juniors and seniors, out-of-school youth, and adults; and are offered at various times and locations throughout the county.

For applications or more information, high school students can contact their counselors. Out-of-school youth and adults should call or visit the ROP office at 1845 Rollins Road, Burlingame, telephone 692-2900.

The San Mateo County Board of Education initiated ROP in 1968 to work cooperatively with county school districts, businesses, and industries in developing vocational training course which do not duplicate those offered by school districts, but which meet both the needs of the community and of business and industry in San Mateo County.

Tips for Older Drivers

If it seems drivers are going too fast, or near-accidents occur more often, the Department of Motor Vehicles says it may be time for a refresher course on the rules of the road.

Many adult schools and local Traffic Safety Councils offer refresher courses for older drivers.

The senior motorist gradually surrenders to time his or her eyesight, hearing, physical dexterity and reflexes, which can make driving hazardous.

These declining physical capabilities can be compensated for, at least in part, the DMV says.

The department encourages the senior driver to continue operating a motor vehicle as long as he or she can do so safely. Sometimes just brushing up on poor driving habits can add extra years of safe, independent driving.

If the older driver decides to stop driving for health or safety reasons, he or she can get a "Senior Citizen Identification Card." The card is just as valuable for check cashing and identification purposes as a driver's license.

DMV's Backseat Driver Public Panel has published a pamphlet on the older driver, which contains many helpful driving habits.

For a copy, write to the Department of Motor Vehicles, Backseas Driver Public Panel, Box 2411, Sacramento 95811.

Antique Show Biggest

Every Labor Day weekend for the past five years, the Antique and Collectors' Revival has played host to the past when the San Mateo Fairgrounds' Hall of Flowers has opened its doors to a giant assemblage of antique furniture and memorabilia, autos, films and music.

This year's Labor Day show from Sept. 2 through 5 will be the largest in revival history, with more antique furniture and collectibles, more classic cars in the "used car" lot, more rare old paper and more funky music from the past.

In keeping with the tradition of past revivals, antique dealers and collectibles buffs from all over the state will bring their most unusual and rarest items to the annual holiday show.

Tickets ($2.50 for adults and 50 cents for children under 12) will also buy admission to the Revival's "March of Time" Cinema, where film classics from Hollywood's Golden Age will roll continuously, and admission to one of the state's largest model railroad exhibits.

As usual, barbecued chicken and smoked sausage will be cooking in the Revival's Country Kitchen.

The show will be open Sept. 2, 2 to 10 p.m.; Sept. 3, 11 a.m. to 10 p.m.; Sept. 4, 11 a.m. to 7 p.m.; and Sept. 5, 11 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Labor Day Bus Service

An extensive schedule of bus service will be offered Peninsulans on Labor Day by the San Mateo County Transit District.

Three Mainline routes will be running Saturday and Sunday schedules direct to downtown San Francisco: the 7A, originating at Page Mill Road, Palo Alto; the 7S, starting at the Greyhound depot in Redwood City; and the 5L, which begins at Hillsdale. Routes 7A and 7S serve San Francisco International Airport.

Because BART trains will be running, SamTrans will initiate several schedules at the Daly City BART Terminal:

- The BART-Airport Flyer, observing the same frequencies as the weekday 7A
- 22D (BART to South San Francisco) on Saturday frequencies
- 21A (King-Callan to Stonestown) on Saturday frequencies
- 20J (Manor Drive and Claridge to Mission and Templeton) on holiday frequencies
- 20C (Serramonte to Mission and Templeton) on holiday frequencies

The 1A/1L, serving Half Moon Bay and Pacifica, will run on a Sunday-holiday schedule direct to downtown San Francisco.

Rose Society to Meet

The San Mateo County Rose Society, Inc., will hold its monthly meeting, Aug. 25 at 8 p.m. at the Garden Center, 605 Parkside Way, San Mateo.

The program for the evening will be on ecology. Speaking will be one of the members, Robert Ehm of San Mateo.

New Student Orientation

The Westmoor High School annual orientation assembly will be Aug. 31 in the Main Gymnasium, from 8:30 a.m. until 10 a.m.

Orientation is designed primarily for the incoming freshmen. However, all students entering Westmoor in the fall who are unfamiliar with the school are welcome. Schedules of class assignments will be distributed to freshmen at this time.

The members of the Westmoor Executive Board will be in charge of the orientation, under the direction of Gary Robinson, student body president. The members of the Rally Committee also will be on hand to welcome students.

Following the assembly the students will break-up into small groups for a question-answer session and to receive their schedule of classes for 1977-78; then they will tour the school.

Students who have not yet registered to attend Westmoor can telephone the school at 756-3434 for a registration appointment.

More Jobs Predicted

State experts are predicting moderate job gains in most Bay Area industry-business categories this year and next.

Of the eight leading categories, they say, six will improve moderately and one very slightly, with one unchanged.

Average monthly totals next year will be greater than comparable 1976 levels as follows:

Services — 16,400, retail trade — 11,700, government — 8,200, construction — 6,800, finance-insurance-real estate — 5,500, manufacturing — 3,300, wholesale trade — 1,800.

Transportaton-public utilities will remain at about 1,000 jobs under 1976 levels.

The study by the Employment Development Department is of jobs in San Francisco, San Mateo, Alameda, Contra Costa and Marin counties. Intensive original research, employer surveys and government data banks were used by EED's Coastal Area Labor Market Information Group in San Francisco to develop the report.

Asbestos Warning Issued

Starting this week, warning letters are being mailed to 70,000 California employers believed to be using asbestos, a proven cause of human cancer., alerting them to the Sept. 1 deadline for reporting asbestos workplace use to the state.

Reporting is required by a state law which took effect this year in an effort to prevent job-related cancer.

"Asbestos is the most widely used of the 16 cancer-causing substances now regulated by the state in places of employment," said State Health Director Jerome A. Lackner, M.D. "Employers who fail to report asbestos use by Sept. 1 risk a $500 fine. While the fine is significant, so is the health hazard to workers of this cancer-causing substance which employers must ensure is safely used."

Assessment Deadline

Local property owners who wish to contest the assessed valuation of their homes must do so before Sept. 15.

George R. Reilly, member of the State Board of Equalization, reminded property owners that appeals received after the final filing date cannot be considered.

Reilly said that if a property owners who have not yet received notice of the assessed value of their property may obtain the necessary information from the office of the county assessor.

Using More Gasoline

Soaring ever closer to a billion-gallon month, Californians used more gasoline in June than in any previous month. George R. Reilly, member, State Board of Equalization, announced today that a record 988.5 million gallons of gasoline distributed during that month came within 11.5 million gallons of the billion mark. Since June was up by almost 24 million gallons over May, it is likely that California motorists will pass the billion figure sometime this summer, if they haven't already.

Reilly said that June gallonage was 2.4 per cent higher than in May and a hefty 6.3 per cent higher than for June 1976.

Unemployment Rate Up

California's seasonally adjusted unemployment rate was 7.4 per cent in July, up from 6.9 per cent in June.

Unemploymet continued to decline and the jobless total was the lowest in 30 months, but the decline was less than normal for this time of year so the seasonally adjusted rate moved up. A year ago (July 1976), the rate was 8.8 per cent.

The number of umemployed was estimated to be 767,300 in July, down by 21,300 from June. This was the lowest number of unemployed since December 1974, when it was 724,400. At that time, however, the unemployment rate was 8.4 per cent because the total labor force was lower by more than 800,000.

Home Buying Advice

Bank of America has issued a report for house hunters which offers a checklist of factors to take into consideration when selecting an area in which to live.

The Consumer Information Report, entitled "Steps to Buying a Home," says that as a starting point, decide how far you are willing to commute to work each day and circle the area in that range on a map. Then drive around the area, noting neighborhoods that appeal to you. When this is done, investigate the following factors:

Transportation — How available and reliable is public transportation? Gauge the time and cost involved in commuting to work, stores, and other places by making trial runs on the days and at the hours you would normally travel to these spots.

Services — How far away is the fire station? Is its staff part-time or full-time? Where is the nearest emergency hospital? Is garbage and trash removal provided by the local government or a private company?

Public Safety — Get crime statistics from the local police. A report or map indicating the crime rates of various areas may also be available.

Geography and climate — Ask city or county planning officials about flooding and erosion, smog and fog patterns, mudslides, brush fire hazards and earthquake faults.

Schools — Visit the school(s) your children would attend and ask to sit in on a couple of classes. Ask the principal about students' scores on statewide achievement tests. Check school bus routes or, if your children would be walking to school, investigate the safety of their routes.

Zoning — According to the city or county planning department, what streets are destined for expansion? Ask about the policy of granting variances. If they are granted easiy and often, zoning laws will have little meaning.

Taxes and Assessments — Visit the local assessor's office and ask for full details on property taxes and assessments (charges for local public improvements such as paving and street lighting). Have they been rising sharply? Are they likely to continue doing so?

In addition, the report has suggestions for buyers who can't meet the 20 per cent down payment requirement of many real estate lenders.

NEWS DIGEST

Scouts Attend Jamboree

San Mateo County Council's contingent of 60 scouts and eight scouts, arrived at Morraine State Park, Pa., for the 1977 National Scout Jamboree and saw the boom town erected by the U.S. Army complete with four helicopters and 100 mobile vehicles.

On Saturday, Aug. 6, rain began to fall and by Aug. 8, 5½ inches had fallen. The Scouts morale rose higher than the water and in two hours they had completed at least 20 canals, some waist deep, for drainage.

John Montgomery of San Bruno, Sub Camp 6 director, commended the scouts, their leaders and the camp staff, on their actions and superb cooperation.

Scouts attending from the northern Peninsula included George Pikich of South San Francisco and Bob Marozine and Wilke See Tho of Daly City.

46 Programs at Skyline

Skyline College Community Services will be offering a total of 46 programs under nine major topic headings during the fall semester.

The Community Services information brochure which features the program from all three colleges (Skyline, College of San Mateo and Canada) in the San Mateo County Community College District has been mailed to the residents in San Mateo County. The brochure includes the description of the various course offerings and other information such as the times, places and dates of the programs.

North San Mateo County residents who have not received the Community Services information brochure can secure a free copy at public libraries throughout San Mateo County, at any of the three colleges. Or they may contact the Skyline College Community Services Office, 355-7000, ext. 338 or 339.

Discarded Items Sought

"The children of nedy families must go back to school, too," said Lt. Col. Raymond G. Ecklund, executive officer of Volunteers of America. "They also need clothes and shoes that are several sizes larger than the ones they wore last year.

"Demand has been heavy all summer long and we are now in desperate need for back-to-school clothes in all sizes for boys and girls, and are appealing to the generosity of homeowners and businesses to help replenish our badly depleted stocks.

"When the school season actually gets started we expect an even heavier demand for children's clothing. So we ask parents to please check closets and storage areas for outgrown clothing. New life can be given to these discards in service to needy and low-income families."

The Volunteers also need clothing of all kinds for men, women and infants, as well as furniture, large and small gas and electrical appliances, dishes, house furnishings, silverware and old newspapers.

"Your tax-deductible donations not only permit immediate aid to needy individuals and families," Col. Ecklund added, "But also help provide work opportunities for numerous unemployed men and women every year, who assist with sorting and repair of these items."

Donors can call 626-0434 for an appointment for free truck pickup service.

Samuel Chandler

There once was a young maiden from Thinsville
Who beguiled the eyes of King Fatsville.
He took up her chaser with haste,
But soon was outpaced and disgraced
When a coronary put him in Docsville.

—Jim Ryan

For all the people from Fatsville, Doctors Jim and Tomi Ryan have produced a book that they call "a foothold against obesity and heart disease."

"The Meatless Meal Guide" (Ryan Co., 1975, $3.95) contains recipes to flutter the most cultivated palate. Nut brown roast, for example, and eggplant custard casserole. There are recipes for a flavor melange casserole with mushrooms, for vege-roni and for a tasty and practical dish called a "busy day dinner," which takes but 15 minutes to bake.

For people with a sweet tooth, the Ryans bring such desserts as cheesy banana, wherein creamy cheddar cheese, black walnuts and lemon juice are used to coat a banana. The book contains recipes for strawberry yogurt cookies, crunch top pie, lemon sherbet with blueberry sauce and apples Scandinavia — all of them luscious to taste and non-fattening.

Vegeterianism is as old as mankind. Long ago the wise poet, Ovid, wrote, "Make not flesh your food but seek a more harmless nourishment." "Oh, how criminal it is," he cried, ". . . to chew the piteous flesh of slaughtered animals."

For modern day Ovids, the latest issue of "The Mother Earth News" contains recipes for three meatless sandwiches that were created by Leona Farquhar, who runs a restaurant and natural health foodstore in Hendersonville, N.C. Each sandwich was created to prove Ms. Farquhar's contention that "healthful food can be absolutely scrumptious." The first sandwich features tomato, cheese, and onion on pita bread that is spread with mayonnaise and a dash of hickory smoked yeast and topped with fresh, delicately crisp alfalfa sprouts.

The second Farquhar sandwich is a variation of an old standby, the egg salad sandwich, with alfalfa sprouts and other spices to give it a unique flavor.

The third features garbanzos and red beans mashed into a tasty pulp, mixed with onion, green pepper, soy sauce and served with lettuce and sprouts on pita bread. "Each sandwich," writes the editor of "Mother Earth News," "is a meatless source of protein and a delicious meal in itself."

"A vegetarian," Pegeen Fitzgerald writes, "doesn't eat by the seasons; he is probably less dependent on them than the meat-eater." Ms. Fitzgerald's book, "Pegeen's Vegetarian Recipes" (Gramercy, 1973, $2.95) contains approximately 200 ways of preparing fruits and vegetables.

Karen Brooks' "Forget - About - Meat - Cookbook" (Rodale Press, 1974, $7.95) and Elsa Michaels' "The Vegetarian Menu Cookbook" (Drake, 1973, $8.95) are among several other books that make dinners take the pledge "I will never again touch meat, fowl or fish, yet I will be healthy and well nourished."

College Rated High

Students give high marks to the evening college programs offered by the three community colleges in San Mateo County, a report on a year-long study presented to the board of trustees of the San Mateo County Community College District reveals.

According to Glenn P. Smith, chancellor-superintendent of the district, a student evaluation survey conducted during the year shows that evening college students are quite satisifed with the courses and programs offered by Skyline College in San Bruno, Canada College in Redwood City and College of San Mateo.

Over 2,400 of the 18,000 students enrolled in evening classes at the three colleges were asked to rate the continuing education program as a whole, the quality of instruction and the availability of services on a scale which included rankings of excellent, good, fair, poor, unsatisfactory and not applicable. As part of the survey, students provided demographic information and details on their educational backgrounds and goals. Survey results will be used in planning future programs, Chancellor Smith said.

Clifford O. Denney, associate superintendent for planning and development, told board members last night that evening college students rated all aspects of evening college programs in the "good" range. However, students rated the quality of instruction higher than the quality of services offered such as testing, counseling, library and bookstore). Their evaluations also varied by division: language arts students generally rated instruction higher than others in the survey, and business students ranked it lower.

The survey also showed that the majority of students believe the colleges offer classes in a good variety of subjects and that classes are offered at convenient hours and in convenient locations.

Robert Stiff, director of educational program coordination, said that ethnic minorities and students with lower family incomes (under $9,000) rated the overall program lower than others. Minorities comprise 18 per cent of the students surveyed. Minority and lower income students also prefer basic skill and mechanical/technical objects more often than other groups.

When asked their reasons for attending college, respondents cited three reasons most frequently: to become better informed, for personal fulfillment and happiness and for use in job advancement.

Students were also asked to indicate their recommendations for improvement of the evening college program. Students most often responded that the colleges should place more emphasis on new career fields and on helping students achieve a sense of confidence and self-worth. Students also recommend that the colleges offer more advanced courses and that instructors adapt their teaching methods to students, according to Stiff.

"The first ranked recommendation, more emphasis on new career fields, appears consistent with one of the major reasons for enrollment: for job advancement," Stiff stated.

The study showed that evening college students in the community college district today are somewhat older than those in 1973 and that more students attend college part-time than did four years ago. These facts are in line with nationwide trends in community college education, according to Chancellor Smith.

FINE ARTS

Bach Society Auditions

Maestro Edwin Flath, music director of the California Bach Society, has announced auditions in preparation for the choir's 1977-78 season.

Auditions for all voice categories will be in Berkeley and Palo Alto. In Berkeley the schedule is Sept. 8-9 and Sept. 14 from 6-10 p.m., at St. John's Presbyterian Church, corner of College and Garber. Auditions are by appointment only; singers may secure an audition time by calling Jill Bryans at 527-5593 daily between 5 and 10 p.m.

In Palo Alto the schedule is Sept. 6-7 and Sept. 15-16 from 6-10 p.m. at The First Congregational Church, corner of Lewis and Embarcadero. For appointments contact Judi Keyani at 948-2960.

Singers interested in auditioning should prepare a solo in either English or a foreign language; sight reading ability is preferred.

Founded in 1971, the California Bach Society is dedicated to advancing appreciation of the works of Johann Sebastian Bach in public concerts. Current plans include November performances of the Bach Mass in B Minor in both Berkeley and Palo Alto.

Rehearsals Underway

The San Mateo County Choral Society, under the direction of Dr. Marietta Tassos, will begin its sixth season of rehearsals and concerts on Aug. 23 at 8 p.m. at the Community United Methodist Church, Chadbourne and Poplar Streets, Millbrae.

Planned concerts for the fall season are a repeat of the "Messiah" sing-along to be held at Capuchino High School on Dec. 11, and a Christmas concert at the Civic Center, Daly City, on Dec. 4.

All adult residents of San Mateo County are eligible for membership in the Choral Society. Further information may be obtained by calling 873-4121 or by attending the first rehearsal on Aug. 23.

Seeking Wind Players

Auditions for the Bay Area Wind Symphony will begin on Aug. 24 with late auditions Sept. 14-16.

Co-conductors Karen Michalka and James Gardner are offering an opportunity for advanced wind players and percussionists through high school age to perform the finest literature available for this medium.

Rehearsals will be in Berkeley every Tuesday evening from 7-10 p.m.

For more information write: The Bay Area Wind Symphony, Box 9449, Berkeley 94709.

BRIGHT LIGHTS BY LLOYD ★ JOHNSON

Scotty Campbell's Is Second Curtain

Many performers appearing at Circle Star Theater are spotted after showtime at SCOTTY CAMPBELL'S restaurant in Redwood City. This fashionable prime rib dinner house is considered by many as the "second curtain".....So many patrons are celebrating their birthdays and anniversaries at ROSEBUD'S ENGLISH PUB, on San Francisco's Geary Street "Theater Row," that Manager JIM DAY is stocking a large supply of Rosebud's special carrot cake. You can order it in advance or just tell the waitress.....First-time patrons at PHIL LEHR'S STEAKERY, on the lower level of the San Francisco Hilton Tower, Taylor Street entrance, do a fast double-take when they see all those elegantly dressed dinner guests wearing bright red bibs. It is to protect their fine clothes from possible splatters from Phil's famous sizzling steaks.....According to reports from the South Lake Tahoe area, BARNEY'S and the SOUTH TAHOE NUGGET are enjoying one of their busiest summer seasons. What with all the remodeling, new slot machines and two 24-hour restaurants, no wonder the smiles that Owners ELIZABETH CHARTRAND and ROBERT GAYNOR BERRY are wearing are for real.

SETS BEAT

Drummer John Gentile (pictured), Tom Lucia on bass guitar and Jack Bailey on lead guitar, better known as The Tri Sounds, play a wide variety of songs that are prevalent on the best seller charts, plus request tunes at Bayhill Lounge, San Bruno. Good listening and dancing nightly, Tuesdays through Saturdays.

Renee De Carlo's Double Cape Dance

RENEE DE CARLO, the fascinating Spanish dancer and member of the EVE-ETTES, FINOCCHIO'S fabulous chorus line, is reported to be the only female impersonator in the world to do a double cape dance. Renee's wife, JEANNIE, delights customers also as she smilingly bobs from table to table serving drinks. Four shows nightly, except Monday.....Making plans for Labor Day weekend fun? A relaxed way to celebrate the holiday is to stay at NICK GUST'S SEABREEZE MOTEL, overlooking the Pacific Ocean at Rockaway Beach, and dining at his three close-by restaurants, NICK'S (open every day), THE MOONRAKER, and CAPTAIN CHARLES, which offer food variety..... As you cross the Calif.-Nevada border on I-80 heading for Reno, the first gas station is the FIRST CHANCE CHEVRON. When purchasing 10 gallons or more every rider in your car (over 21 years of age) will receive coupons to Reno casinos equal in value to $28.50 per person. Bring the ad with you for other bonuses....Dinner patrons at LEHR'S GREENHOUSE Garden Restaurant in San Francisco receive complimentary passes to the hilarious new hit musical comedy show, "Get Happy," playing Wednesday through Sunday at the adjacent Lehr's Cabaret Theater at the Greenhouse.....What Italian restaurant would dare not serve spaghetti? Surely not ROMANO'S in Rockaway Beach, where one of ENRICO ROMANO'S house specialties is Spaghetti Caruso (chicken livers, fresh mushrooms). Includes tossed green salad and French bread.

Jilly Kong's Food Service 24 Hours

The Jilly Kong is a bustling 24-hours-a-day restaurant operation in the ROYAL INN, South San Francisco. From breakfasts (served all day) to homemade soups and sandwiches, to steaks and chops during the dinner hours, the menu is almost unlimited. One unique selection is called M.O.A.B. (meal on a bun), which is a large cheeseburger with all the trimmings and served with a bowl of chili.....The COFFEE SHOP and FOUNTAIN is one of the busiest "International Kitchens" in Hillsdale's FARMERS MARKET. Besides a variety of fountain-type items, breakfast selections include egg combinations, omelettes, French toast and waffles. Sandwiches and hamburgers ars also on the menu.....LARRY BERTOLUCCI, co-owner of BERTOLUCCI'S in South San Francisco, is especially proud of the veal dishes. Veal Picatta a la Bertolucci, considered a house specialty, and Veal Scalloppino ala Toscana are among the most popular. Only the finest Eastern white veal is used..... The businessmen's lunch at the LOS COMPADRES Mexican restaurant in San Mateo features a la carte items priced at $1.50, and all except one include salad. The complete luncheon special is $1.95.

SAL CAMPAGNA deserves compliments as his HOUSE OF TROY restaurant in San Carlos continues to meet the demands of quality food and fine service in an intimate and cozy atmosphere.....RICHARD BERTRAND is the wizard behind the bar at L'AUBERGE French restaurant in Atherton. Over 20 years in the business and 10 years in his present position has made him quite an expert "Beverage Manager." He does all the purchasing of the over 120 wines, which includes everything from a $5 vintage to a '59 Chateau Latour costing $150..... Dinner is served in a relaxed, friendly atmosphere at JOVANELO'S restaurant, San Francisco. Whether it be a family affair, party group, or a cozy twosome, you can expect the finest of meals served in an elegant manner.....Free coupons for BARNEY'S in Stateline, Nevada, are available at NIKKO'S restaurant in Vacaville, which is owned by NICK (affectionately called Nikko) COLIAS and his wife MARY. The 24-hour coffee shop is a convenient stop-off for those traveling to South Lake Tahoe.

Locals to Appear At Weekend Fair

Marilyn Beresen, painter, of South San Francisco; Frank Sakamoto, painter, of Daly City; and Burlingame residents Roy and Pat Wirtz, painted glass craftsmen, Jayne Basques, graphic artist, and Woody Knudsen, potter, are among the 135 artists and craftsmen invited to show at the 14th annual King's Mountain Art Fair Labor Day weekend, Sept. 3 through 5.

The King's Mountain Community Center-Firehouse at 13889 Skyline Blvd., Highwy 35) above Woodside is the setting again for the 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily event. Admission is free.

This year's fair will feature the work of 23 new artists and craftsmen whom the jury selected from 500 applicants. Some of the new crafts include cloisonne jewelry, silk screen clothing, linen and kites, corn husk dolls, rubber stamp art, wooden puzzles, drums and puppets, finger puppets and painted eggs.

One of the new craftsmen will demonstrate how to make beads out of stone and bone using primitive tools, and another jeweler will demonstrate wire-jewelry construction.

Etchings will be a new art form offered. The traditional forms and crafts being exhibited include oils, watercolors, photography, sculpture, pottery, jewelry, leatherwork, weaving, stained glass, toys, woodwork, dolls, clothing, blown glass and macrambe.

Residents of the rural mountain community will show their work in a section called Mountain Folk Art. Other residents will serve food throughout the day starting with breakfast at 8 a.m.

Proceeds will be used to maintain the King's Mountain Volunteer Fire Brigade and to buy fire fighting equipment. The firehouse was built by residents solely from proceeds from previous art fairs.

The show, which has attained the reputation of being one of the best in California over the past 14 years, is sponsored by the King's Mountain Association. Artists come from throughout California and Oregon to exhibit their work.

County Helps Poor Pay Their Fuel Bills

San Mateo County's Economic Opportunity Commission is administering a California State Office of Economic Opportunity program to assist poor and low-income households in San Mateo County pay their gas and electricity and utility bills.

The energy/fuel bills assistance funded with a $43,000 grant from the Community Services Administration and administered under the commission's Crisis Interventon Program will assist those who are unable to pay their energy/fuel bills, restore services that have been cut off and those delinquent in paying their gas or electricity bills.

To be eligible for assistance under the program, applicants who may be single or head of households must meet the following guildelines:

Household Size	Total Non-farm Household Income	Total Farm Household Income
1	$ 3,713	$ 3,188
2	4,913	4,200
3	6,113	5,213
4	7,313	6,225
5	8,513	7,238
6	9,713	8,250
7	10,673	9,210
8	11,633	10,170

Deadline for filing applications is 5 p.m. Aug. 31. Applications are available from the San Mateo County Economic Opportunity Commissin, 702 Marshall St., Suite 220, Redwood City, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday.

For further information, contact Jorge Hassmer, coordinator, energy project, at 364-5600, ext. 2671.

DISCUSSING PLANS FOR 1977-78

With the aid of little Dave Schwarzbach, the Friends of the Daly City Library Membership Committee are discussing plans for this fiscal year. They are, from left, Virginia Tierney, Verna Teglia, Chairman Denise Schwarzbach, Gertrude Kendree and Lois Manbert. The committee hopes, with cooperation of the hospitality committee, to meet new members at the first fall book review Sept. 15, 10 a.m., at the Serramonte library. Sam Chandler, city librarian, will be the reviewer. (Dave Dornias Photo)

Religion Digest

Nursery Program

Congregation B'nai Israel, 1575 Annie St., Daly City, announces the continuation of its nursery school program.

This program is open to all Jewish children ages 2 years 9 months to 4 years of age. The class meets weekly on Thursday from 1 p.m. to 2:30 p.m.

Congregation B'nai Israel also offers a Shabbat School program for children ages five through 14.

Applications of children who would like to join the classes for the fall are now being accepted.

For more information, contact B'nai Israel office, 756-5430, between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m., Monday through Friday, or Mrs. Chait, principal, at 692-4690, evenings.

Seats Available

Seats still are available for Rosh-ha-Shanah and Yom Kippur at Congregation B'nai Israel, 1575 Annie St., Daly City.

Conservative services will be conducted by Rabbi Ira Book and Cantor Salo Blumenthal.

On Aug. 26, at the conclusion of services, Congregation B'nai Israel will tender an Oneg Shabbat for Cantor and Mrs. Blumenthal.

For High Holiday seats and information, contact the office of B'nai Israel at 590 Washington St., Daly City or phone: 756-5430 weekdays, between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m.

Slichot Services

On Sept. 3, Congregation B'nai Israel will observe Slichot Services at the Temple House, 1575 Annie St., Daly City.

A social hour will commence at 10:30 p.m. with refreshments served; followed by the Special Penitential prayers, Slichot, which will be said at midnight. Rabbi Ira Book, assisted by Cantor Salo Blumenthal, will lead the service.

Slichot ushers in the coming High Holy Days Season and begins the Jewish New Year, a Penitential time, that culminates on Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement, marked by a 24-hour fast.

NELL NORTON

Good morning, good cooks.

What are your plans for today? Going to fly down to Rio, or spend the day watching TV and eating chocolates, or rush to the store and buy some terribly expensive clothes? Do I hear a hollow laughter?

Perhaps a more reaslistic version of your day would be: wash, iron, clean, shop, feed the kids and clean again.

The only help I can give you on such a day of work is an idea for a delicious entree for dinner.

FIESTA TAMALE PIE

3 tablespoons olive oil
1 small onion, minced
1 clove garlic, minced
1 pound ground beef
½ pound pork sausage
1 can (2½ can size) tomatoes
1 can whole kernel corn (no. 2 can size)1 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons chili powder
24 pitted ripe olives
1 cup cornmeal
1 cup milk
2 eggs, well beaten
1½ cups grated yellow cheese

Heat the three tablespoons olive oil in frying pan and saute the minced onion and garlic until translucent and golden. Add the pound of ground beef and half-pound of sausage and brown.

In large sauce pan, combine the large can tomatoes and can of corn, two teaspoons chili powder and one teaspoon salt and simmer for 20 minutes. Let this mixture cool and combine with the meat mixture.

Pour into shallow casserole, 10 by 13 inches and press the 24 olives (more if you like more olives) into the meat mixture.

Combine the one cup cornmeal, one cup milk and two well-beaten eggs and spoon over filling. Sprinkle with the 1 and ½ cups grated cheese. Bake in 350-degree oven for one hour or until cornmeal is baked.

Note: You can prepare the meat mixture early in the day and just add the cornmeal topping before baking. The batter is very thin, but it makes a thick topping.

Serves six to eight, depending on the size of appetites.

Scouts Back From Camp

Scouts from Daly City Troop 369 recently returned from a two-week stay at Camp Royaneh, near Cazadero.

Scouts earned more than 24 Merit Badges while at camp.

Participating in the advancement program and outdoor activities were; Chris, Mike and Dean Kanelopoulos, Brian Watson, Jim Shumacher, Bob Cantwell, T. J. Freitas, Rafael Zelaya, Phil Bouchard, Jim Affolter, Eric Anderson, Ben Buell, Steve Franzoia, Larry Schmidt, Curtis Mentz, Joey O'Brien, Larry Futrell, Tim Abbott, Steve Bach, Austin Holian and Paul Vogel, along with Scoutmaster Craig Markinson and Assistant Scoutmaster Fred Pratt, Rich Bagnall, Leroy Franzoia, Mike Dittmore, Mike Burns and John Watson.

Tapped out for the Order of the Arrow were scouts Mike Kanelopoulos, Jim Shumacher and Assistant Scoutmaster John Watson.

Campgrounds Filling Fast

More than a third of the state park campgrounds that take reservations are completely filled for labor Day weekend, State Parks and Recreation Director herbert Rhodes reported.

All state beach campsites south of San Luis Obispo that are on the statewide reservation system are fully reserved, and most of the other state park and beach campgrounds in the coastal areas are sold out for the holiday weekend.

Also completely reserved for nights on Sept. 2-4 are campgrounds at Donner Memorial State near Lake Tahoe and Brannan Island State Recreation Area in the Sacramento-San Joaquin Delta. Campsite reservations at the other state park units throughout California are going fast, Rhodes said, and he advised holiday vacationers to complete their training plans as soon as possible to avoid disappointment.

Four Capture Crowns In Adult Softball League

Miller Time, Gilio's Meats, Up & Coming and the Big Meats have won the league championship in each of their individual leagues in the Daly City Recreation Division's Adult Slow Pitch Softball League.

Miller Time had to come from behind to defeat the Regal Selects 7-4. This was Miller Time's first decision over the Regal Selects in five years of head to head competition. In other big league action, the Westlake Boys defeated La Borinquenza 20-14 as Don Nelson, Jim McCarthy and Tim Green each collected four hits for the winners. The Regal Selects downed Zolies 7-5 with good pitching by Don Urbanu's key hits by Bob Ferrari and excellent team defense.

Gilio's Meats won the Veteran's league with a 6-1 record. The Barnacle and the Corpus Christi Reds had a playoff game in which the Barnacle claimed second place downing the Red 6-4. Frank Strazzullo and Steve Geramoni contributed key hits in the Barnacle win over the Reds.

Big Meats won the Western Division Crown by virtue of a 10-7 victory over French A.C. In other Western Division action, the No Name outlasted the Jewish Community Center 13-2 behind Russ Woodworth's 4 for 4 and Terry Ohman's 3 for 4 with three doubles.

A 33-hit attack highlighted by four homeruns, enabled the Big Meats to power their way to a 33-18 win over Wards. Terry Ohman went 4 for 5 and John Bouchard had 32 for 4 as the No Names downed the Beer Nuts 16-7. The No Names won its last game 25-8 over a tough Wards team. Chris Prug went 4 for 4, Mike Tsarnan had 4 for 5 and Terry Ohman hit a grandslam for the No Names.

The "B" League North is currently locked in a 3-way tie for first place between The Team, Melody Toyota and Gilio's Meats. In other Northern Division action, Tiny's downed the Local Yokels 17-9 as John Oson hit two homers, one a grand slam.

The Good Time Boys are back on the winning track as "Papa" Mike Ciardella went 4 for 4, "Disco Dan Cafferata" collected three hits and Gary "the drifter" Ciardella floated under every fly ball in left field as the Good Time Boys beat Crown Colony 10-5.

The Up & Coming Team claimed the Eastern Division title, continuing a march towards an undefeated season.

Tom McCarthy and Bruce Davidson each went 4 for 4 as they led Dario's into undisputed second place to the east. Rick's Raiders sunk the islanders 8-4 behind the hitting of Larry San Jose and the fielding of Dennis Davis.

Bayshore Church edged Serramonte Ford 20-19 in a real come from behind thriller. In the fourth inning, Bayshore Church was behind 15-4 and came back to win the game. Dario's won a squeaker over the Hillside Gang by virtue of a two out R.B.I. single by John Cannon in the bottom of the eighth inning. The Down Stream 9 had four hits from John Parras and three from Bill Savage as they edged the Lucky Lions 9-8. Rick's Raiders' shut out Serramonte Ford 4-0 behind the excellent glove work of Roland Velasquez. Excellent pitching by Tony Lastella and fine team defense enabled the Mixed Breeds to defeat the Islanders 18-4.

Tennis-for-Heart Entrants Sought

Georgianne Black, chairman of the seventh annual Tennis-for-Heart Tournament, announces that public entries now are being accepted.

This event is sponsored by the Millbrae Tennis Club and will benefit the American Heart Association, San Mateo County Chapter.

The nonsanctioned, Round-Robin tournament will be played Sept. 10-11 on courts in the San Mateo area. Finals and trophy presentations will be at Bayside Racquet Club.

The tournament will feature competition in men's doubles, women's doubles and mixed doubles and will be opened to all tennis players except U.S.L.T.A. Class "A" players. There will be three flights, novice, intermediate and advanced. Novice players are especially encouraged to participate and gain invaluable competition experience.

For information and entry forms, call or write the American Heart Association, San Mateo County Chapter, 1848 El Camino Real, Burlingame 94010, telephone 692-0981.

Comparing Seasons of Wills and Brock

As Lou Brock fast approaches Ty Cobb's career stolen base record, comparisons between Brock and Cobb will undoubtedly flood the press.

But the comparison which still intrigues me is the one between Brock and Maury Wills, and not their lifetime SB records but their record breaking single seasons: Wills' 104 in 1962 and Brock's 118 in 1974. This especially interests me because Wills and Brock played in roughly the same era (although perhaps not so close, as statistics down the line will demonstrate), whereas Brock and Cobb are from virtually two different baseball worlds.

Close inspection of the single season records discloses that Wills' steals had a greater impact on baseball than did Brock's, in much the same manner as Babe Ruth's 60 homers in 1927 had a much more far-reaching effect on baseball than did Roger Maris' 61 homeruns in 1961.

RUTH'S PERCENTAGE

In case you didn't know it, Ruth hit 13.7 per cent of the League's total homeruns that year. In fact, he hit more than any other AL team that season, and more than five of the eight NL teams. Maris, in 1961, hit just .0397 per cent of the league's homers, and actually had to hustle to beat out oft-injured teammate Mickey Mantle to take the AL homerun crown.

Mantle, with his 54 homeruns that season, had a higher slugging average than Maris (.687 to .620), who in fact was only fourth in the league in slugging to Mantle, Norm Cash and Jim Gentile. Frank Robinson, in the NL, had a .624 SA, and Hank Aaron was only slightly off Maris' pace with a .618, followed by Willie Mays' .615. Mantle also had a higher percentage of homeruns than Maris, 10.5 to 10.3.

For Roger Maris to have had the same proportionate impact on the game in 1961 as Ruth had in 1927, he would have had to swat 210 homeruns!

WILLS AND BROCK

Back to Wills and Brock. In 1962, Wills stole 13.2 per cent of the National League's stolen bases. Had he been in the American League, he would have copped 18.6 per cent of their stolen bases. He stole 7.7 per cent of ALL of baseball's stolen bases, and personally swiped more bases than any TEAM in all of baseball.

Brock, in 1974, stole 9.4 per cent of the NL's stolen bases, would have stolen 9.6 per cent had he been in the other league, and stole 4.7 per cent of all of big league baseball's stolen bases. There were four teams in both leagues which stole more bases than Brock stole personally.

For Brock to have had the same impact on the game in '74 as Wills had in '62, he would have had to steal 166 bases!

Following, some comparative statistics of Wills and Brock for their great seasons of '62 and '74, respectively, with no attempt at judgments from this corner. You can draw whatever conclusions you see in them.

Wills, 5-11, 170 pounds at his peak, was 30 when he established his record. Brock, 5-11½, 170, was reportedly 35, although there are some baseball people who believe that Lou is three years older than he admits.

Wills played in 165 games that season, hit .299, which was 18 points above his lifetime batting average (he twice hit .302), got the most hits he ever had in a season, 208 (he averaged 171), the most homers, 6 (he averaged 1.5), drew 51 walks (he averaged 43.5). He was on base a total of 259 times, exclusive of being hit by pitched balls and being safe on errors.

Brock played 153 games and hit .306, one of the seven times he has hit .300 or better (not to mention three times in the high .290's), and 10 points above his lifetime average. He collected 194 hits (six above his average for a full season). He drew 61 walks, which was about 14 above his normal average. Brock hit only three homeruns that year, though he has averaged about 10 a season for his career. Brock was on base, exclusive of being hit by pitchers and errors, 255 times.

AN 0-2 FINE

And while we're on comparisons, bite this one off and chew on it for awhile. Giants' Manager Mel Ott once fined his fine right handed pitcher Bill Voiselle $500 for allowing a St. Louis Cardinal to hit an 0-2 pitch for a homerun. At the time, Voiselle, who didn't complain about the fine, made a salary of $3,500. It is easy to figure that that fine represented one-seventh of his salary. If the average big league player today, who makes $75,000 annually, were fined proportionately, it takes no genius to figure that it would come to an almost $11,000 bite out of his earnings!

LOCAL NOTE: Rich Burt, the Jefferson High School principal, was reminiscing recently about his days in baseball when someone mentioned the name of Joe Sprinz, the former long-time San Francisco Seals catcher. It brought an immediate smile from Burt, who recalled how Sprinz once almost saved his career.

Burt, who was to put in several years as a catcher in the Detroit chain before he gave up baseball for education, was playing for the Coast Guard and had developed a terribly sore back and shoulder, which rendered his throwing arm almost useless.

"I was getting desperate," recalls Rich. "I had been to every top trainer in the Bay Area, including the nationally known Denny Caroll, and none of them had been able to help me. And then one day I was sitting in the dugout and Sprinz dropped by to watch our game. We began talking and the subject of my sore shoulder came up. I told him what I had done for it, and suddenly he's up behind me grabbing my shoulders and telling me, 'Hold still for a second,' and he gives me a terrible whack on the back and suddenly the pain was gone and never came back!

"Unfortunately, my shoulder had nothing to do with whether or not I could hit a curve ball, but I'll say this. If I had had a career in baseball, I would have owed it all to Sprinz."

NO MAGIC HANDS

Sprinz, who remembers the incident, modestly asserts that he didn't then nor does he now have magic hands, lest the public start rushing to his doorstep for a laying on of hands. It's just that, as a guy who played 24 years of professional baseball for many teams on which the players had to be their own trainers, he had to learn such tricks in self-defense. That and a young son who at the time had polio and needed continual therapy from his father, all congealed at just the right time for Rich Burt. Except that Sprinz never did teach him how to hit a curve.

Writing of Sprinz reminds me of a conversation I had with him a few years ago in which he decried the current catchers' vogue of catching with one hand, "snapping that big glove out like a first baseman's mitt and grabbing it overhanded."

Sprinz contends that today's young catchers are losing a lot of potential strikes for their pitchers, because in going out to snatch the ball they are negating their chances to "cheat" on the close pitches.

"You catch with two hands," reminds Joe, "and on those questionable low pitches you can receive them palms up and in close to your body, in a position that isn't as easy for the ump to see. Then you can slyly draw the ball up a couple of inches and occasionally steal a strike."

Parking Okayed For RV Owners

Responding to the problem often experienced by owners of recreation vehicles in finding an attractive, safe place to park overnight, Herbert Rhodes, director of the State Department of Parks and Recreation, has announced a new overnight parking plan.

Overnight parking permits are available now for use beginning Sept. 1 at three state beaches in southern California and one on the northern California coast.

The parking will be available only to "self-contained" recreation vehicles with a special permit, which will be good only from one hour before sunset to 9 a.m. and will not be good during summer months. The designated parks to not have camping facilities and have not previously been available for any overnight use.

"We recognize the growing use of recreational vehicles in California, especially among the retired population. This special overnight parking program — something the department has never tried before — should provide inexpensive and safe parking in beautiful state beaches. We expect it to be an extremely popular permit, in great demand once the recreation vehicle-owning public realizes its potential," Rhodes said.

A user of a "self-contained" recreation vehicle may obtain a permit for $25, which may be used for overnight camping in designated areas of the four state beaches from Sept. 1 through Dec. 31, 1977. Permits good for calendar year 1978, except June, July, and August, will be made available before the end of 1977.

Recreation vehicles for which the permits are issued are subject to inspection to verify that they are "self-contained," defined as vehicles designed for human habitation and equipped with plumbing and built-in equipment, including kitchen and toilet fixtures, storage tank for drinking water, and holding tank or tanks for both waste water and sewage.

Rhodes said the overnight parking arrangements have been adopted on a trial basis through December 1978 for the convenience of recreation vehicle travelers. He said the permit allows for overnight stays within established limits at the designated parks from one hour before sunset to 9 a.m. the next day.

Overnight parking permits may be obtained now for use beginning Sept. 1, after the "self-contained" vehicles pass inspection, at Seacliff State Beach at the City of Half Moon Bay in San Mateo County.

Culligan Advances

Tom Culligan III and three other San Mateo County shotmakers were competing in the second round of the Northern California Golf Association Amateur Championship today at Spyglass Hill.

Culligan, the former College of San Mateo golfer, was an easy winner in the first round Monday, routing Dave Jones 6-5.

Ray Pellegrini of Daly City advanced with a 1 up victory over Bob Clampett, while Mike Barnblatt nipped Ron Nelson 2-1. Mike Wiechers advanced with a 3-2 win over Sgt. Tom Welch.

Former Burlingame high golfer Bob Enslow lost to Tim Albrecht by default, and Dr. Dave Allen, who plays out of the San Mateo Golf club, dropped his match on the 20th hole to Mike Lopez.

Top seeded Mark Tinder and second-seeded Don Levin advanced with wins over Van Batchelder 4-3 and Paul Hilton 2-1.

Fishing Remains Slow

There are very few bright spots in the Northern California fishing picture as low water levels and extreme fire conditions prevail.

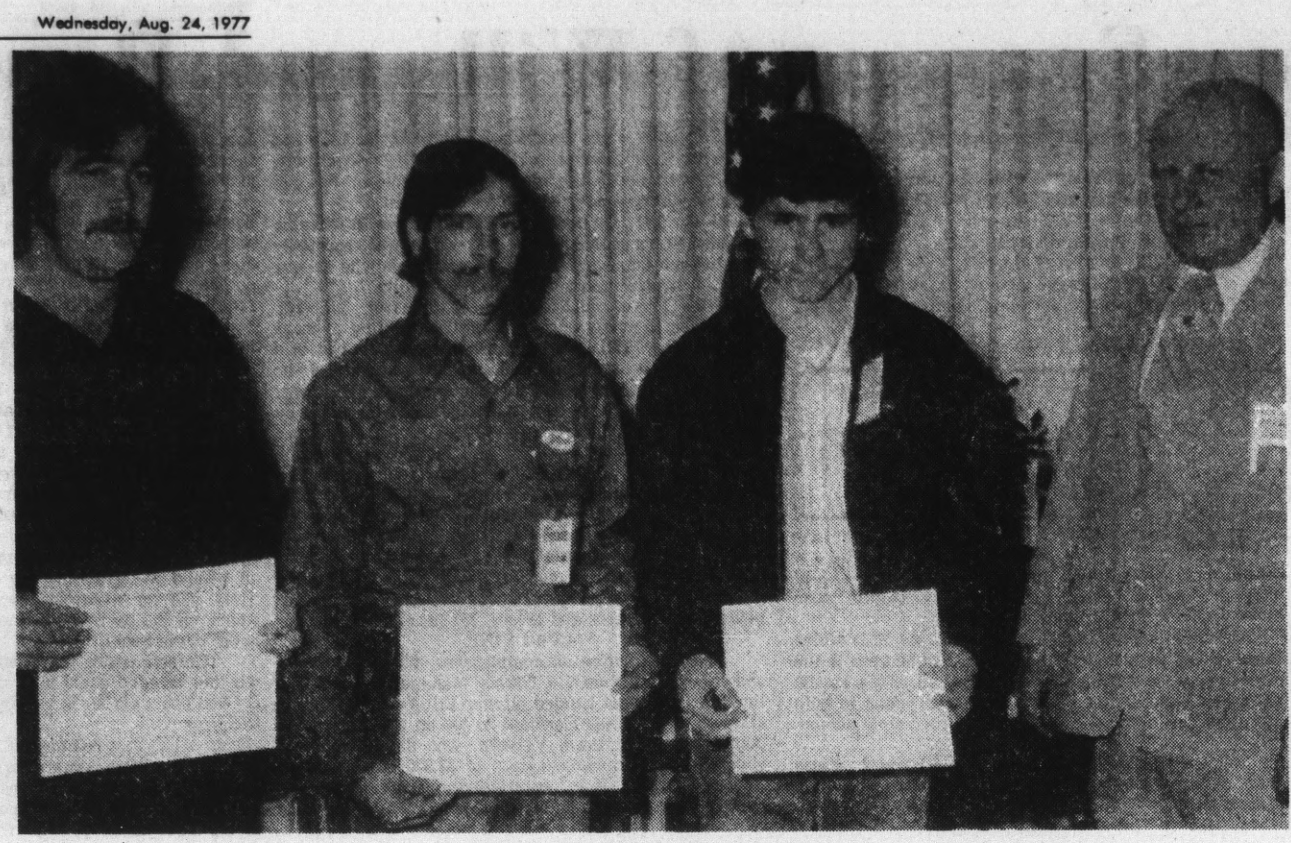
Most areas report slow action for anglers. Some high elevation lakes report "fair" fishing. Extreme fire dangers have brought bans on camp fires and open burning in most areas.

Fishermen, hunters and campers are urged to check locally for specific fire permit regulations and rules governing use of off-road vehicles in areas above 6,000 feet.

Coastal salmon in Humboldt County is one of the best bets for anglers when the fog is out and seas are calm.

Lake Mendocino is producing good striper action from the banks only.

McCloud Reservoir on the Pit River watershed is good, but watch for heavy logging truck traffic on most area roads.



RECEIVING COMMENDATIONS

Three persons received commendations from Daly City Police Chief David Hansen recently for their efforts to aiding the police department and the community. Joseph L. Muzio Jr., left, helped a police officer arrest a suspect; Glen Maldonado used his vehicle to block the path of an out-of-control vehicle, preventing property damage or serious injuries, and Explorer Scout Neil Revello, right, helped at the Police Athletics League's fireworks stand July 4.

Daly City Soccer Tactician Coaches His Team to the Finals

Coached by veteran soccer tactician Mike Salvemini of Daly City and Westlake, the under-21 "Sunnyvale Spartans" played "total soccer" to reach the finals in a summer soccer league featuring top college soccer talent from the Bay Area.

Captained by Salvemini, emerging as one of the key players for the 1980 U.S. Olympic soccer squad, the Spartans also had the services of other Daly City residents. They were Steve Ryan from San Jose State University, also on trial for the national Olympic selection, Juan Simone from the University of California-Berkeley, and 17-year-old high school standout Ron Salvemini, brother of Dan.

The oldest of the Salvemini brothers, Lee, now is ready to join the Olympic team again, having recovered from the compound leg fracture he incurred representing the U.S. against Mexico.

The Spartans conducted their weekly workouts at Ben Franklin school, Daly City. On at least one occasion they shared their skills with the under-eight Westlake Tigers, also coached by Salvemini and sons.

The Spartans showed impressively the imporance of conditioning and physical fitness combined with the kind of teamwork that leads to come-from-behind victories, Salvemini said. One such occasion was the game against a Santa Clara team that contained players that had recently won the U.S. under 19 national Soccer Cup.

The semi-final game against Menlo played in a grueling 100 degree heat at Watson Park in San Jose had the Spartans in early trouble as defensive lapses resulted in two quick scores for a fast-breaking Menlo squad. As defenders, Paul Mitchell, Juan Simone, George Barry, Tony Kovac and Bruce Gordon, settled down, midfielders, Dan Salvemini and Chris Oldenburg could better support the forays of forwards, Mike Mitchell, Steve Ryan, Peter Jackson and Ron Salvemin, but the closest anyone came to scoring was hitting the goalposts and crossbar.

However, from the onset of the second half, the Spartans became the attacking team, constantly testing the Menlo defense with the goalie making some last ditch saves. This contrasted with the light task of Bill Hoga, the Spartans towering goaleeper who had replaced Jon Olson. And Paul Mitchell and Juan Simone really had become stoppers as they methodically separated the Menlo strikers from the ball and moved it forward past midfield.

Steve Ryan, whose bullet shots could not find the mark, finally scored on low freekick. Goal number two was the result of a give and go between Dan Salvemini and Steve Ryan with Mike Mitchell completing the score. Then Steve Ryan was felled as he broke through into the penalty area. Dan Salvemini's kick was just deflected by the goalie, alertly he had moved up for the follow in and the Spartans were ahead three to two with minutes to go.

Undoubtedly the game was won because the Spartans were able to substitute effectively without disrupting the flow and tempo of the contest. That is total soccer — there are no specialists, everyone supports the attacks, everyone assists in defense. This was specially emphasized by utility player Jon Littman.

The Spartans went into the final against Burlingame and came out losers after two overtime periods. Apparently being without goalie Bill, Dan Salvemini, and Steve Ryan, back east for the Olympic trials, vroved too much. However, Striker Jim Boyle from the USF championship team displayed his particular brand of ball control and switching of positions, that combined with incisive goal shooting makes him a threat to suddenly score.

RECEIVES SCHOLARSHIP

Elizabeth Santos, member of the Daly City Recreation Department Gymnastics Team, has been awarded the William E. Glover Memorial Gymnastic Scholarship. The scholarship is presented annually to outstanding female gymnasts in the San Francisco Bay Area on behalf of the Northern California Women's Gymnastic Committee. Elizabeth has been an active member of the Daly City Crickets since 1970 and has competed both as a Class III and a Class II gymnast. In 1976, she qualified for and participated in the 1977 Zone II - Class II Championships, but did not qualify for the State Meet because of an ankle injury. However, her 1977 Competitive season was highlighted by three first place awards in vaulting competition.

Jeff Trustees Relent on Ban

Jefferson Elementary School District trustees Monday night decided to re-examine their protest of a liquor license in Daly City after hearing an appeal by the liquor store owner.

On Aug. 8, trustees objected to the issuance of a hard liquor license for the establishment at 311 E. Market St., near Colma Elementary and Colma Intermediate schools. Trustees said they did this as a matter of routine, indicating they object to all hard liquor licenses near schools.

However, Musa Ibrahim, 111 Glenwood Ave., Daly City, appealed to trustees Monday night, asking that they rescind their protest.

Ibrahim wants to establish a liquor store and delicatessen at the new East Market Shopping Center. He said he has more than $100,000 invested in the new business, including a mortgage on his home.

Ibrahim said the present owner of the liquor license — which costs about $42,000 — is delaying turning it over because of the JESD protest.

"We won't sell liquor to school children," Ibrahim said.

"I voted to protest the liquor license, "Trustee Beverly Forrester said, "but I think such a protest is ridiculous. I don't think it's something we can stop."

"If the students want to buy liquor," Trustee Dorothy Adams said, "they'll get someone to buy it for them."

At the insistence of Trustee James Cranna, Ibrahim indicated he will not sell candy at his store. Candy according to Cranna, is an inducement for students to frequent the store.

Ibrahim also promised trustees that he'll cooperate with the district "to stop kids from coming to my store."

Board President Alvin Schwarzbach said the trustees will reconsider the matter Sept. 14. He said he hopes parents who have children attending the two Colma schools will appear before the board to present their views.

In other matters Monday night, trustees:

- Nominated Christos Pallas, San Bruno Elementary School District trustee, as a delegate to the California School Board Association.
- Rescheduled the Sept. 12 meeting to Wednesday, Sept. 14.
- Created a half-time position of administrative assistant in charge of special programs, with the other half-time to be devoted to duties as a reading specialist.
- Entered into a $900 agreement with Greg Papedo for the testing of students eligible for the Mentally Gifted Minors program.
- Extended their agreement with Servicar of Northern California, Inc., providing transportation services. Servicar will receive a 6.9 per cent rate increase over 1976-77.
- Accepted with regret the resignations of Suanna Gilman-Ponce, Deborah Brown, Annie Skootsky and Warran Bryant.
- Re-employed 13 certificated personnel who were terminated earlier because of a reduction in services and an uncertainty of incoming federal and state funds.

Pacifican Director

Howard Dean Hoops, Pacifica, former Red Cross executive, has been appointed director of the National League for Nursing (NLN) Western office at 1308 Bayshore Highway, Burlingame.

Hoops will be responsible for providing services to the western regional Assembly of Constituent Leagues. The assembly is composed of leagues in Alaska, Arizona, California, Colorado, Hawaii, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, New Mexico, Oregon, Utah, Washington and Wyoming.

The leagues initiate and stimulate service, education and research programs to meet nursing needs in their areas.

Jefferson Class Reunion

The 1957 graduating class from Jefferson High School will hold a reunion Oct. 1 at the San Mateo Elks Club. Dinner and dancing will be included. Graduates who have not already been contacted should write to Reunion Headquarters, 2308 Easton Drive, Burlingame, for more information.

Daly City Police Ceremony Held in Quantico, Virginia

Daly City Police Lt. Roger Austin was promoted to captain last week, receiving his new badge from Chief David Hansen at the FBI National Academy at Quantico, Va.

Austin, 34, appointed lieutenant in November 1974 and sergeant in 1970, joined the Daly City department in November 1964.

A department spokesman said Austin, who has been attending the 12-week FBI academy since mid-July, will have overall responsibility for the detective and records divisions, as well as support services.

Chief Hansen has been vacationing in Virginia and was able to present Austin his new badge personally.

Austin's wife, also vacationing in the area, witnessed the presentation.

Westmoor Registration

The Westmoor High School administration staff will be registering students who are new to the school by appointment on Aug. 24 and 30. Late registration will be Sept. 6.

This service will be available on an appointment basis and students must telephone the school at 756-3434 for an appointment. Students are to being transfer papers or their most recent report card from the last school attended to assist with their registration.

Aging Conference Set

The Northern and California Conferences on Aging will be Aug. 24-25 at the Holiday Inn in Oakland, in cooperation with the State Office of Economic Opportunity, the California Commission on Aging and other state and federal organizations.

Mutual objectives of the identical conferences include strengthening commitments of service-providing individuals and agencies; identifying policy and resource constraints; identifying at least five critical operational issues; and providing a means of improved collaboration.

USDA Briefing

The U. S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) has announced a public briefing to be held in San Francisco on Aug. 26 concerning suggested changes in the federal meat and poultry inspection programs recently recommended by a management consulting firm.

Carol Tucker Foreman, assistant secretary for Food and Consumer Services, said the briefing is designed to explain the recommended changes and to assist interested persons in submitting their views to USA either in written form or at a public hearing to be held in Washington in late September.

The briefing to begin at 10 a.m. will be at the U. S. Customs Building, 555 Battery St. in room 503.

Hot Shots Shine at Playgrounds

Sports
And Recreation

Paper plane and kite contests and "hot shot" competition were the key activities in last week's Daly City Recreation Department sponsored summer playground program. Last week's playground news:

WESTLAKE PARK

In hockey action, McNulty's Nuts topped the Pucker Uppers. In the second game, the Whangs bested the Wana Wannas.

The hot shots competition was Friday with the following results: In the boys 9-12 division, John Bell took first with Brian Mertens second, Mike Zimmerman third and David Barrett fourth. In the girls 13-15 year division Anna Marie Viglizzo took first. In the boys 13-15 division, Robbie Mascheroni took first with Mark Taddei, Ray Araya, and John Robbins tied for second. In the girls 16-18 division Linda Pardini took first. In the boys 16-18 division, Kevin Mahoney took first, with Dave Pacheco second and Kevin Mertens third.

GELLERT PARK

Gellert Park had its Pepsi-Cola N.B.A. hot-shots competition. Winner in boys 9-12 years old: first place, Darrin Baum, second place, Mike Jasen, and in third place, Tony De Suyo.

In the boys 13-15 years old: first place, Phil Ragona, second place, Keith Edwards, and in third place, Rich Mobles.

Gellert Park had more than 20 participants attending the competition.

F.D.R.

Last week "hot shots" competition winners were Tommy Barraza, Maurice and John. John received stiff competition from Andrew. Maurice had a tough battle with Tommy Jones. Tony B. won his division easily. Last week's barbecue was a success, with everyone eating a lot of hot dogs.

Today is going to be the last barbecue of the summer, and will be the last day to sign up for a fun-filled end-of-summer-event at Westlake Park Aug. 25.

M. H. TOBIAS

Summer fun at M. H. Tobias has excelled this past month. Soccer has hit the playground and last week's action saw the Guillory "Cosmos" defeat the Brennan "Quakes" 5-4. Player's competing were Kevin and Danny Brennan, Tony and Andra Guillory, Nick Rally and Henry Pegkueros. The outstanding "all-around player award" goes to Nick Ralley for scoring three goals and playing strong defense.

Co-ed kickball has brought out many kicking stars, including: Joe, Danielle and Mary Feccia. Also, Julene and Kelly Semien, Cindy and Randy Whelchel, Vanessa Pegueros, Barbara Piertoni, Roy Manzanares, the Brennan brothers and the Guillory's. The outstanding "kicker" award goes to Mary Feccia and Tony Guillory. In the hot shot contest, Roy Manzanares and Dennis Roxas will represent M. H. Tobias in the city finals.

PALISADES PARK

Last week the hot shots contest was held and it was a good one. In the 9-12 age group the winner was Darryl Washington. Darryl was hot as he hit for 17 points, winning by seven points over his opponent, Tony Reinosa. It's on to Westlake for Darryl to see if he can beat the winners from other playgrounds.

In the 13-15 age group three boys took part: Alfonso Zelaya, Mark Barro, and Danny Piiwan, and the winner was Alfonso Zelaya as he hit for 11 points, Alfonso had a bad skating day, but so did his opponents as Mark Barro went for only nine points, and Danny Piiwan went for 10 points almost beating Alfonso.

NORTHRIDGE PARK

Whiffleball is still the most popular activity at Northridge Park. Billy Moyle has taken over the home-run race with a commanding 58. He is followed by Sal Navarro, with 52 and Raymond Moyle with 38. Other participants, are Mike Nohose, Terry Smith, Roger Zapata, Jerry Lewis, Sherman Navarro and Darrel Williams. Carroms also gets its share of players: June Salangsang, Mari Pender, Joseph Salangsang, Patti Pender, Latrice and Brenda Nash and Herman Guiterez. Barbecues are every Friday.

OUR LADY OF MERCY

Congratulations go to Jim Riccomi, who took first place in the ping-pong tournament. Bobby Vanocini took second place, Ted Curry third place and Dean Brown fourth.

Congratulations also go to Gerry Manis who took first place in the Carrom Contest. Second place went to Gerald McFadden, third to Ted Curry and fourth to Jim Riccomi. During the contests the other children were kept busy making kites and flying them. Colene Madena got her kite to fly first. Bob Vanocini, was kept busy in all events. Susan, Joann and Kevin Savage also made kites. Heather and Rachael, the littlest children, made kites with the help of the older children.
